Executive Forum

For many years SOL Results has provided professional and personal development opportunities for its members. These benefits have included networking breakfasts, masterclasses, retreats in a range of areas of personal and professional development and coaching. To further broaden our offering to members we are now introducing the invitation only Executive Forum.

Evolve at a personal, professional and business level

Introduction

Accelerate your personal, professional and business growth.

Imagine having access to your very own peer advisory group, fast-paced learning, and an inspiring community dedicated to helping you succeed. The combination provides a lasting impact. Not just on your business, but on your life.

Our SOL Results Executive Forum offers you a caring community of business leaders, field experts, investors, entrepreneurs and partners who grow together and connect for valuable opportunities, share best practices, do business, and open doors for each other.

Our purpose is to accelerate your personal, professional, and business growth, and to provide access to collective intelligence and experience to make better decisions.

We gather in peer groups based on trust and commitment, supporting each other on crucial decisions, to achieve our goals, and build an extraordinary life.

Our platform generates experiences, learning, and exchange. We gain the clarity that emerges from the collective intelligence of a group of proven leaders. Because we know that together we are wiser.

Our forums bring together business leaders like you who understand the challenges and complexities of being at the top. Your confidential monthly meetings are guided by your Forum Leader, who ensures each member's experience is as enriching as possible.

Members are able to bring to the table their greatest professional or personal challenge to receive direct, constructive, actionable feedback with diverse perspectives from their peer group who are experienced CEOs, who understand all the complexities and challenges of leading.

By capitalizing on the powerful collective intelligence of a proven group of leaders, members are able to make better decisions, clarify their vision, face challenges with confidence and take full advantage of uncounted opportunities among their journey. Together our members design the life they want to have.

I encourage you to come along on the journey.

Who is SOL Results?

Take your life to the Next Level

SOL Results began in 2003 after four independently successful business people and long-time friends, Stan Kontos, Manuel Karkafiris, Peter Gardiakos and John Ngatia decided they wanted to pass on the wisdom and knowledge they had attained throughout their life and successful career.

Prior to founding SOL Results, they had each felt like they wanted to achieve more in their business & life but lacked the know-how. Mostly out of frustration they each sought out the world's best business coaches like Anthony "Tony" Robbins, Deepak Chopra and Tad James NLP in order to develop their minds & overcome their mental roadblocks to success. In attending these events and adopting what they had learned they each discovered how to get the results they wanted. In time they were able to master the lessons learned and went on to achieve excellent financial success, have greater health, energy, and vitality, have more meaningful relationships and a clear direction and purpose in life. A position they maintain today and one they continue to refine and develop further. After achieving these great results they now have the financial freedom to pursue their desire to empower others; teaching them the same tools and strategies they used to attain success and take their lives to the next level.

SOL Results first started with one event, fast forward to today and we now host more than 25 events each year and have inspired & reached 1000's of people, including Adelaide's premier networking breakfast which is extremely popular with South Australian business people.
